

Volunteer Officer Report October 2019

Jake Muff

What has been worked on in the past month?

First student engagement meeting was held earlier in the month in which we discussed improving student engagement from last year with the main outcome being important dates have been released much earlier. I have had many meeting with the School director of Teaching and Learning discussing any problems that cropped up as well as organizing the first subject committee meeting of the academic year. We have also had our course reps elected for the academic year, I have met with them and organised dates for the next subject committee meeting as well as setting a monthly meeting up with them.

Successes from the past month and any Reps Wins

Resolved any miscommunication for the module Advanced topics, met with the new course reps and helped them understand their role. Release of important upcoming dates for engagement events organised with the school's engagement team.

Plans for next month

We have our first subject committee meeting on the 30th October as well as the School Action day and Speak week on 6th November in which I look to engage with student and resolve any issues that crop up.
