What has been worked on in the past month?	This month I attended my first school meeting and held my meeting with the year leaders around introducing a stronger feedback loop with the reps in the school. From the school meeting, I spoke to the subject librarian for Architecture which sparks a lot of positive conversation about how this can be a beneficial process for our school and continuing the strong progress we made in this area from the last rep. Another strong communication from this meeting was with the first-year leader. We spoke about the student to student mentoring we want to put in place and are currently putting a meeting in place to try and act upon this. From the year leader meeting, I was able to gather important feedback from the year leaders about incorporating and better utilising the reps. The response was positive and hopefully, this will be facilitated as the academic year starts by both parties to offer a stronger, more reliable, feedback loop for students.
Successes from the past month and any Reps Wins	We were able to start to facilitate a strong relationship and feedback with the staff about the new reps coming in and how they can work together to resolve issues in a more effective and efficient process. This will hopefully save reps time as they can have more direct meetings that eat less into their study time which is valued dearly by all students on our course. We were also able to involve students in the clearing out and reorganisation of the studio, not just staff. This will hopefully set us up for a better start to the academic year and reassure these students in uncertain times which is a positive message to spread through our school and the student body. I have also spoken to the incoming first years with the other third years to help to give advice and answer the new cohorts queries. This will hopefully provide them comfort in what could be a daunting year to begin their time at Lincoln.
Plans for next month	In the next month, University will commence again so there are a few final meetings I have to finalise some suggestions we have given to the staff who have responded excellently with bringing these in and realising where the students will stand. Starting to introduce the Why arts matter campaign into the school better. Last year a lot of students involved themselves in the Universities' creative showcase page which we will be encouraging students to do more of this year.
