What has been worked on in the past month?	During the last month I have been thinking about what I want to achieve within my role through KPI's which are currently being reviewed. In preparation for the new term I have had a meeting with the College of Social Science Director of Education and attended a Q&A session with the Deputy Vice Chancellor of Student Development and Engagement which were both very informative for what the new term will look like. I have continued to keep in contact with the school reps and we have started preparation for making introduction videos that can be shared with students to raise reps profile.
Successes from the past month and any Reps Wins	I have set up an Instagram account which I will soon be posting on. This will allow students to get important information I have to share quickly, creates another feedback avenue and, will help people get to know me and my role.
Plans for next month	I hope to have the introduction videos sent out ready for the start of term as well as rep profiles posted on my social media to make it clear who students can come to. Also, I aim to have contact with all schools within the College of Social Science to ensure any help they need regarding student voice and representation during the start of term is there. I plan to have another meeting with the College of Social Science Director of Education so we can update each other on what the start of term is looking like and any initial feedback. I look forward to interacting with students and helping them settle into the new term.
