

Eddie Foster:

What has been worked on in the past month?

During the past month, I have aimed to be on hand for any issues arising as a result of the lockdown procedures and signpost students towards the direction from the teaching team and wider university guidance. I also attended a virtual accountability forum for the School Rep of Accounting and Finance

Successes from the past month and any Reps Wins

The teaching team have been very informative when it comes to keeping students updated about assessment procedures, meaning less work for us as reps other than pointing students to the information provided.

Plans for the next month

I will continue to be on hand to students for any concerns and questions they may have. Unfortunately, the subject committee that was due to take place has been cancelled but any issues students have I can forward on to the teaching team via email.
