| What has been worked on in the past month? | Communication with staff and students has been improved upon. I have had many meetings with both staff, such as teaching and learning director, engagement lead and the head of school, and students such as my other reps under CoA and within my own school. I have pitched the idea of my student officer ours to the director of teaching and learning. We said this would be a good idea to manage time more effectively and so that feedback for the rep position did not take up all my time. He also suggested to put more focus on my course reps and to not be doing all the feedback searching myself. We also discussed rather than dedicated "Hours" within the email we are going to send we make my rep email address more widely known so people can send messages there. We also discussed sending an email to students and this is now on my plans for next month. |
| Successes from the past month and any Reps Wins | All reps have assured me that they have made contact with their year and course students to ensure there is no concerns and no feedback to be given regarding teaching and learning and any other concerns people may have. I have been able to send out an email to all relevant staff introducing myself as the school rep. |
| Plans for next month | I plan to send out a mass email through the Jamie Woods, teaching and learning director, in order to introduce myself to all student years and to encourage further students to come forward and be reps for their course so i can more easily get feedback from all areas of history. |
