What has been worked on in the past month?	As outlined in last months report, this month has been spent working with the BGU pride society on a virtual pride. In a meeting with both the BGU and UoL committees it was decided that the virtual pride will roll over 5 days; each day focusing on a different member of the community. This includes BIPOC individuals, trans/non-binary people and disabled queer people. We will also have a day that focuses on education and sexual health. We think that the virtual pride will mostly consist of videos/talks and hashtag events (like sharing past pride memories) to get people involved and will hopefully conclude with music/arts as a celebration of pride.
Successes from the past month and any Reps Wins	As most of this month has been spent working on the virtual pride there haven't been many 'achievements'. What we have done, however, its further form a working relationship with BGU which will help us in the future when it comes to putting on events or doing campaigns to benefit LGBT+ students at both BGU and UoL. We have also complete our 'meet the committee' on Instagram, introducing ourselves to new and current students.
Plans for next month	Along with continuing work on the virtual pride next month will be spent working on Transgender Day of Remembrance, trying to create a programme of events that commemorate this event while adhering to COVID guidelines. With a new wave of students joining in October, I'll also be taking part in virtual freshers fairs to introduce new students to our campaigns network as well as ensuring that new students are aware of our group and how we can help them/make them feel safe.
