

Volunteer Officer Report October 2019

Kyle Aron Murfet

What has been worked on in the past month?

In October there were two committee meetings - one for economics and one for accountancy and finance - in which various pertinent issues were brought up. There was a lot of discussion around these points and a good amount of progress was made between staff and students to finding a solution. I also met quite a few of my reps for the first time at the rep training which allowed me to see the team I'll be working with this year.

Successes from the past month and any Reps Wins

- discussion on what students want tutorials to be like
- course reps trained and ready for the year ahead of them
- issues related to student voice discovered and now able to be rectified

Plans for next month

I plan to make the processes through which students can talk about their issues - like Coursemate - more visible and familiar to the general student population. I also hope to dig further into the tutorial issue to see what changes can be feasibly made.
