Rep Role	School Rep - Architecture and the Built Environment
What has been worked on in the past month?	This past month we have had our first staff/ school meeting, with this having been put back with the delayed start to the year. A few issues and concerns were raised during this session which have been actioned and resolved where necessary since this session. It was really encouraging to see a strong open discussion between students and staff which I felt was productive for all. I was also pleased by all the positive feedback and reinforcement from the reps as this didn't happen last year and I think staff appreciated their support from students for what can be noted as a huge effort by staff for how well this year has been run so far, being better than normal on top of the COVID provisions that have been made. My school also took part in there own speak week as this has been a fantastic resource for the school. The Head and Deputy head of school involved me in the surveying process in its creation and results which were helpful to support reps and make questions clearer for students.
Successes from the past month and any Reps Wins	From the feedback from speak week 80% of the respondents said they understood the course rep structure and its purpose for them which was encouraged. All the students who didn't understand where first and second years. These reps have been encouraged to give a description to there year as a whole. This should hopefully provide any clarity needed. We have also had great response to feedback and problems, which has been acknowledged by staff and students. We had a problem of a wrong briefing document to CSM and AST students which was resolved within the next day of it being raised which is excellent and is like the speedy responses we have had all year. This has put us going into good place for the Christmas break and ready for the subject committee when we return.
Plans for next month	With our transition to online teaching we have still had good feedback from students. With this time of year and the return in New Year students are particularly busy at this time. I think this will limit the reps time at our return so I am encouraging them to make sure they absolutely attend our subject committee meeting. This will give a more detailed view of how students and staff are getting on so far. I am also looking forward to our return to university as a lot of students are in our school and hopefully the positive feedback will continue.
