

Volunteer Officer Report November 2019

Emma Calvert – College of Social Science Officer

What has been worked on in the past month?

I have been working closely with the college this month to finalise the College of Social Science (CoSS) Rep Quiz Night! This now has a date and I am excited for this to go ahead. This will be a chance for all the reps to meet each other and share ideas together. I am hoping that the new layout of the evening can be used in upcoming years.

Successes from the past month and any Reps Wins

Following feedback from the Law Rep, a confidence workshop has been organised by Georgia that should give the course reps the confidence to engage with students.

We also had a very successful CoSS Academic board in which the reps fed back their successes and goals.

Plans for next month

Following the CoSS Academic Board I am keen to begin working with the college and the SU on the NSS strategy for the upcoming year.

I am also keen to begin working with the Psychology and Education Reps in beginning their peer mentor schemes, which was a concept received well in the academic board.
