

UNIVERSITY OF LINCOLN STUDENTS UNION

Vice President Wellbeing and Community Officer Report July 2020

Training

This month we have continued our training ready for the incoming students. We have completed online training and worked together to build our relationships in order to be as prepared as possible for the year ahead. The training has included lots of introductions across the University, which will allow us to build the relationships needed to put all our ideas into action.

We had social media training and have since been let loose on our social media accounts! I'm looking forward to sharing what we are getting up to as a team with everyone on these platforms, do come and say hi!

When we haven't been in training we have been attending a number of different meetings across both the Students Union and the University. These meetings give a great insight into how things are run and give us as sabbatical officers a greater understanding of the organisation.

Operational plans

We have been working on our ops plans for this year to ensure we are ready to begin to implement things as soon as students return! This year I am excited to work on the new housing accreditation scheme and work with students to ensure it is the best it could be. I am also hoping to work on increasing and emphasising mental and sexual health provision for students. I am hoping to work closely with Amina to tackle hate crime and raise awareness on how to report it.

The upcoming year

I am currently working on two suggestions- these are to implement Ask for Angela in the Engine shed and creating access to hot water on campus. I am currently working with commercial services within the Students Union to implement Ask for Angela and am confident it will be implemented across students union venues.

The housing accreditation scheme has been a massive part of the last month for me, I am so excited that we have been able to create it for students and I am now working to get student feedback on what they want from their landlords.

I'm working on a lot more than just these and I'm excited to be able to share them with you in the future. If you have any questions or feedback please drop me an email and we can talk about it!
