What has been worked on in the past month?	Attended housing focus group, not directly related to this position, however was asked to put across various peoples experiences from my course as they felt unable or not confident enough to do this themselves, therefore I was happy to get these opinions heard. Furthermore, I have had some online email discussions regarding a possible Online Social Event for Art History Students during welcome week.
Successes from the past month and any Reps Wins	Made first contact with course reps from history and heritage by sending out an initial email. A Facebook group chat has been set up with those that have responded to the email so far.
Plans for next month	I hope that the group chat will become a place for easy communication and a place for sharing ideas among reps and that more of the reps will come to be added to this group. Also, next month I hope to iron out the details of the online social event being the potential date and content of the online event, possibly a quiz and a chat.
