What has been worked on in the past month?	In the past month I have just come into my post as Women's Officer and have been completing my training online. I attended my very first Campaigns Network meeting! I also attended the Reclaim the Night march as Campaigns Lead. Recently I also talked to students about introducing lectures on sexual consent for every subject during the next academic year. I came up with a brief month-by-month plan for the next academic year, including outreach during freshers week and creating a intersectionality week with other members of the Campaigns Network.
Successes from the past month and any Reps Wins	I have been working with next years publicity lead, Sam Neal, to come up with lots of ideas for the next few months. We talked a lot about how we can reach out to students over social media during lockdown. We also discussed how we will structure our women's group meetings and how often committee meetings and group meetings will take place. I have also had some more interest from students who would like to become a part of the Women's group committee for next year and nominate themselves in the October by-elections.
Plans for next month	In the next month I aim to continue with the Street Lights campaign over social media and encourage students to write to our MP. I also aim to create a simple survey for students to complete to gather what people's feelings are towards safety in our city. Once I have gathered this information, I will write to our MP to let him know how important it is that students are safe! I will also promote the Campaigns Network on social media!
