What has been worked on in the past month:

I have been working on looking at what type of business card, folds out are the best. It's taken me some time because I want to make sure I get ones that are fun and convey the message in a less 'standard' way.

Successes from the past month:

Being nominated for the SU awards for my stop and search campaign.

Plans for next month:

Finally decide what method to use and to work with Kudsai for Black history month.
