

Volunteer Officer report February 2019

David Maidwell – School of Chemistry Rep

What has been worked on in the past month?

I had a meeting with the College of science Education and Students committee where matters such as laptops in JBL and module evaluation was discussed. Also discussed was the 'Long first year' where the layout of first year causes and information overload for first year students and makes the jump to second year steep; the final aim is to have a smooth transition through the years and coming from secondary education to university.

I have looked at module evaluation results and turnout. There has been a further drop in turnout and I have spoken to my deputy head of school about plans to remedy this and will bring them up in meetings at a later date.

I attended the ASM (all students meeting) where NUS membership was discussed as well as module evaluations and the barge.

Successes form the past month and Reps wins

Amelia Cullen is running for the position of School rep and I wish the best of luck to her as I know she will do a stellar job

Reps have successfully been pushing students to fill in NSS

Plans for next month

Even more society events are happening – it's going very well, and I'm super impressed with the entire committee!

Work with the next school rep elected and help them get prepared for the role
Attending a College of science academic board meeting with heads of schools, reps and college leaders.
