

University of Lincoln Students' Union Volunteer Officer Report

25/03/2018

LGBT+ Officer

What has been worked on in the past month:

Meetings are having regular numbers as the presentations were taken over by myself, as VP. New members have begun getting more involved with older member's activities and the group seems to look like it's becoming more merged. Though Brighton didn't go ahead due to not enough people buying tickets nobody seemed too disheartened, so I have told the president elect what not to do next year. As the new president I'm keeping the committee up to date on emails and what is being decided in meeting.

Successes from the past month:

The committee seem to be happy to be more involved in what I am told and emailed. We had an Easter egg hunt as a final meeting before the holidays and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. Though our Officer stepped down, it hasn't disheartened the group or committee and everyone has gone on as normal.

Plans for next month:

We are going to have one more social after Easter holidays, we were looking at having a colour social and showing the committee's competitive side. As a way to spend the campaigns groups self-made funds we are going to have an extravagant awards evening for the whole society. We are still deciding whether we shall continue weekly meetings after teaching finishes or not.

Emily Furness,
LGBT+ Officer.