School Rep of Sport & Exercise Science

What has been worked on in the past month:

This month I have had a meeting to discuss the design of the school hub website. Members from the student life design team had a meeting with myself, the students who came up with the idea along with the lead lecturer Sandy Willmott and the student engagement champion Dan Bishop. In the meeting we got to see a draft of what the website will eventually look like and we also were allowed to add anything that was not on the draft. The all-important question was when will the hub go live and we were told mid-February.

Successes from the past month:

Our big success from the past month is the school action day. This was a registered event and just from looking at the amount of people turning up it looked like over 200 students attending the event. The event ran smoothly with a member of staff leading each table along with the help of the course reps. In the first hour students went around each of the five tables discussing and writing down what they think needs improving in a certain area. In the final part of the day students would pick one area they are interested in and work alongside other students and a member of staff in what they think needs to be done. At the end of the event students went to the sports centre to compete in a dodgeball tournament ran by course reps. I went around each table and there was a lot said by the students which was amazing. The reason behind this event was to improve the student voice in the school and it was amazing to see a lot of the students be involved.

Plans for next month:

My plans for next month is to receive the information collected from the event and put that into practice. For example, I want to create a community event for the school and one of the areas at the school action day was communication between courses. The students and the member of staff wrote down ideas that they would like and from this I would like to create an event from the ideas that the students wrote down.

Also, I am hoping that the student hub website for our school finally goes live, before it goes live I've been told that I can access the website and go through it to make sure everything works and it is presentable for our students.
